Xeric Gardens

Our climate is unusual across the world in that we're one of the few areas that experience summer drought. That can mean little or even no rain for nearly 3 months in the summer. Planting a Xeric Garden or a Xeriscape can result in one of the lowest maintenance and most rewarding garden experiences locally. If the plants are well chosen, one need rarely apply any water at all once the plants are established. In fact, plants that like this sort of environment may fail if they receive irrigation. Here are some great candidates for such an area.
